

Explanation Letter for Travel to Wonderland

To the Esteemed Officials of the Wonderland Ministry of Entry,

My name is Alice Liddell, and I respectfully submit this explanation letter in support of my application to enter the curious and delightful land known as Wonderland. While I understand that the Ministry has recently tightened its border procedures after several individuals attempted to enter via unsanctioned rabbit holes, I wish to assure you that my intentions are entirely lawful, academic, and only mildly curious.

My purpose for visiting Wonderland is primarily exploratory and educational. During my previous brief and rather unexpected encounter with your country, I observed many remarkable cultural phenomena — including but not limited to talking animals, philosophical caterpillars, animated playing cards, and a cat capable of disappearing while leaving only its smile behind.

Such extraordinary features make Wonderland a uniquely valuable destination for study. I intend to document my observations carefully and behave with the utmost respect toward local customs, tea schedules, and royal temperaments.

I fully acknowledge that Wonderland operates under the authority of the Ministry of Entry and the honorable Interior Minister, the Mad Hatter. Should the Queen inquire about my presence, I kindly request that my application be considered before any immediate orders regarding heads being removed are issued.

I confirm that I will comply with all Wonderland regulations, including but not limited to: refraining from unsolicited size-changing pastries, avoiding competitive croquet with flamingos unless invited, and respecting all official tea times.

Thank you for considering my request. I sincerely hope to visit Wonderland once more under proper and approved circumstances.

Sincerely,

Alice Liddell
